Dear Microsoft Settlement:

It is time that we put the litigation against Microsoft to rest. Enough of the taxpayers' dollars have been squandered. This trial must be over. The marketplace, not the courtroom, should now decide how Microsoft performs. We need to unshackle Microsoft so that they can again be innovative and creative in the hi-tech economy ... moving freely and competitively. The consumers need it ... the investors certainly need to know that the hi-tech industry is again on steady ground.

Let America do what America does best in the marketplace ... allow an economy to grow freely and creatively .... this will not happen if we continue to drag this company, and others, through the courts. Enough is enough!

Sincerely,

Kathryn C. Mills
